Tracer Study of Alumni of CODESRIA Institutes

Have you ever participated in any of the institutes hosted by the Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA), namely, the Governance, Gender, Humanities, Child and Youth Studies, and Health Politics and Society? If yes, then, as an alumnus, this announcement will be of interest to you.

Since 1992 when the first ever CODESRIA institute was organised, the Council has successfully invested itself in expanding that programme modality to reach an ever-growing number of researchers based in different African universities and research centres. Considering the large pool of researchers who have benefited from being part of the institutes, the Council has deemed it appropriate at this time to establish a forum for them named the Programme for the Alumni of CODESRIA Institutes. The forum will be animated through the creation of a dedicated page on the CODESRIA website for disseminating research information about the alumni of institutes. It will also involve the convening of an annual conference of alumni of institutes around a specific scientific theme. If you have been an alumnus of a CODESRIA institute, you are invited to be part of this Programme and, in doing so, to also supply the information below for the tracer study which the Council is carrying out. The tracer study form is also available on the CODESRIA website www.codesria.org. Completed forms should be returned to CODESRIA electronically or by post to the address below:
